HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 2016 ACCOUNTABILITY SYSTEM

August 18, 2016

The public school accountability system in Texas allows for a comprehensive evaluation of district and campus effectiveness by using a framework of four indices that measure the quality of learning from different perspectives. Index 1 provides a snapshot of student performance across all subjects, Index 2 measures year-to-year student improvement, Index 3 emphasizes the academic achievement of certain student groups, and Index 4 emphasizes the importance of a high school diploma for success in postsecondary life.

Additionally, distinction designations highlight achievement in specific areas by those districts and campuses that earn a Met Standard rating.

Finally, system safeguards ensure that—in an aggregated district or campus report—substandard performance in one or more areas or by one or more student groups is not disguised by higher performance in other areas or by other student groups.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

More than five million students were enrolled in Texas public schools in the 2015–16 school year, and they took more than eight million STAAR assessments in reading, mathematics, writing, science, and social studies. Of all tests taken, 75% met the phase-in satisfactory standard for 2015–16.

DISTRICTS (Including Charter Operators)

Of the 1,207 districts in Texas, 1,131 (93.7%) earned a rating of Met Standard or Met Alternative Standard, and 66 (5.5%) districts were rated Improvement Required. The remaining 10 (0.8%) were labeled Not Rated.

CAMPUSES (Including Charter Campuses)

Of the 8,673 campuses in Texas, 7,667 (88.4%) earned a Met Standard or Met Alternative Standard rating, and 467 (5.4%) campuses were rated Improvement Required. The remaining 539 (6.2%) of campuses were labeled Not Rated.

Charter Operators

Of the 183 charter operators in Texas, 123 (67.2%) earned a Met Standard rating, 30 (16.4%) earned a Met Alternative Standard rating, and 22 (12.0%) were rated Improvement Required. The remaining 8 (4.4%) charter operators were labeled Not Rated.

Charter Campuses

Of the 629 total charter campuses in 2016, 384 (61.0%) earned a Met Standard rating, 97 (15.4%) earned a Met Alternative Standard rating, and 68 (10.8%) were rated Improvement Required. The remaining 80 (12.7%) charter campuses were labeled Not Rated.

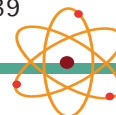

ALTERNATIVE EDUCATION ACCOUNTABILITY (AEA) CAMPUSES

Of the 400 campuses registered to be evaluated under the Alternative Education Accountability (AEA) provisions, 242 (60.5%) achieved a rating of Met Alternative Standard and 29 (7.3%) were labeled as Improvement Required.

The remaining 129 (32.2%) AEA campuses that were Not Rated consisted of 9 AECs of Choice, 36 Dropout Recovery Schools, and 84 Residential Treatment Facilities.

Of the 400 campuses registered to be evaluated under the AEA provisions, 145 (36.3%) were charter campuses. Of the 145 charter campuses, 101 (69.7%) achieved a rating of Met Alternative Standard and 3 (2.1%) were labeled as Improvement Required. The remaining 41 (28.3%) AEA campuses that were Not Rated consisted of 2 Dropout Recovery Schools and 39 Residential Treatment Facilities.

NOT RATED DISTRICTS AND CAMPUSES

Of the 1,227 districts evaluated in the state, only 10 (0.8%) were labeled Not Rated. Of those, 9 (90%) were Residential Facilities, 1 (10%) could not be rated as a result of small numbers analysis.

Of the 8,574 campuses evaluated in the state, 546 (6.4%) were labeled Not Rated. Of those, 398 (73%) were JJAEPs, DAEPs, or Residential Facilities, 139 (25.5%) could not be rated as a result of small numbers analysis, and 9 (1.6%) were not rated due to other reasons.

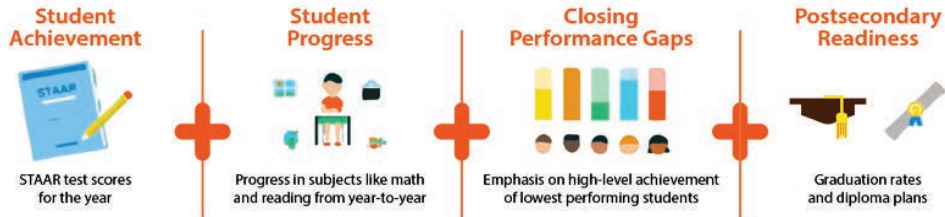

There are more than 8,000 public schools in Texas.

How do you know how your child's school is doing compared to others in the state?

Texas Education Agency Accountability Rating System

Every school gets one of two ratings: MET STANDARD or IMPROVEMENT REQUIRED.

The Texas Education Agency looks at four areas in determining a school or district's accountability rating:

Schools receiving the MET STANDARD rating may qualify for special honors called Distinctions.

There are 7 possible distinctions:

- Academic Achievement in Reading/English Language Arts
- Academic Achievement in Mathematics
- Academic Achievement in Science
- Academic Achievement in Social Studies
- Top 25 Percent: Student Progress
- Top 25 Percent: Closing Performance Gaps
- Postsecondary Readiness

12 Baylor University | Waco, TX | $35,972 annually

Baylor University is a medium-sized private Baptist school in Waco, Texas, about halfway between Fort Worth and Austin. This institution is dedicated to the concept that a nationally recognized research institution can exist in a Christian environment. Over 16,000 students attend Baylor, pursuing one of 141 undergraduate degree programs and more than a hundred postgraduate programs. The average class size is 27 students, and the student-to-faculty ratio is 15 to 1. Baylor boasts a Phi Beta Kappa chapter, one of only 10% of schools in the U.S. to do so. The most popular majors include biology and biological sciences, psychology, nursing, accounting and finance.

Volunteering in the community is greatly encouraged at Baylor. In fact, the school established the first college chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

Baylor has received numerous accolades. Among them, U.S. News & World Report ranks the college 71st among Best National Universities. It is also listed 54th in Kiplinger's Best Values in Private Schools ranking. Students can enjoy outdoor pursuits on the beautiful 1,000-acre campus located on the Brazos River.

17 University of Dallas | Irving, TX | $33,110 annually

The University of Dallas, actually located in the suburb of Irving, is a private Catholic institution serving approximately 1,300 undergraduates and 1,700 graduate students. Due to its small size, the student-to-faculty ratio is an optimal 11 to 1. Undergraduates may opt for one of 23 majors in liberal arts, or a degree program in ministry or business. Academic expectations are high, and all students begin their UD experience by reading the Great Books. Additionally, all students study the same Core Curriculum during freshman and sophomore year, regardless of major; this curriculum explores the great thinkers of Western tradition, like Milton, Plato, Shakespeare, Homer, Augustus and Aquinas.

Unique to many schools in the U.S., UD requires all undergraduates to live on campus. There is no graduate school, off-campus or married housing available.

U.S. News and World Report ranks this school 13th among the best regional schools in the west. The UD study abroad experience allows students to attend a semester at UD's remote campus in Rome, where Core Curriculum studies will continue.

13 Hardin-Simmons University | Abilene, TX | $23,460 annually

The lyric "Deep in the heart of Texas" was probably written about Abilene, where this university is located. Hardin-Simmons is a private Baptist university that enrolls around 2,300 students per year. The small size means there is a 12.1 student-to-faculty ratio. Bachelor's degrees are offered in arts, behavioral science, business administration, fine arts, music, science and nursing. Motivated students may participate in an Honors program. The fully accredited school also holds industry accreditations for programs in business, theology, nursing, physical therapy, education and athletic training.

HSU freezes tuition rates for each entering freshman class; this rate does not change as long as the students continue to progress toward degree completion.

U.S. News and World Report ranks Hardin-Simmons 35th among regional universities in the West. This is a highly selective school, and generally admits about 37% of applicants.
